Hi,

I have prepared the FreeBSD port for the 602 release.
I have also submitted it to the FreeBSD guys to include it in the ports tree. But it seems they are quite busy since I have got no feedback for the prior release I had submitted until now.
The port directory is contained in the archive attached.

To use it, just unpack the archive anywhere you like, cd into upp and type make install. This will install upp on your system.
