I'm experiencing big problems with the latest autobuild (1240) on debian 64.

1. Blitz build does not work.

2. Very strange problems with multithreading, my app seems to be stucked in many case. I never had problems with previous versions.
I believe you must have more details but for the moment i don't managed to create a small test case to show the problem.

Do you have problems with multithreaded apps ?

Well, there was extensive refactoring of MT. It is possible that something went wrong.

Can you provide details? Is it GUI app? Is it using Post?

i have solved my problems.
There was a call to Button::SetImage in an other thread that the main one.
But i don't understand why this was working before.

Good!

Note that you can now keep calling Button::SetImage as long as you use GuiLock...
