OK, after short hiatus due to finishing Draw (and also because of my holidays), let us go back to regular releases; if everything goes well, tonight automated release should be "stable/announced".

If you can provide some other release, like .rpm or mingw variants, please upload them sf.net at your will (after koldo makes the release of standard packages).

OK, more critical bugs fixed today, deferring release to Wed 12.

OK, the MT bug is really hard to figure out, so maybe Fri 14

But I am on a good path now...

Love the new interface! Its gonna take me a little time to get fully used to it but it appears to do everything that one would ever want and the mouse-browsing variables when debugging is fantastic.

Nice one!
