Subject: Ctrl + Scroll to increase/decrease font size
Posted by pveach1 on Mon, 10 Aug 2009 18:56:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There is a feature I would like to see in theIDE. I guess the best name for it would be Ctrl+Scroll.
Press the Ctrl key and scroll the mouse wheel to enlarg/reduse Editor font size.

This feature has been implemented on Internet Explorer, FireFox and Notepad++.

Very useful.

Cheers to all.

Subject: Re: Ctrl + Scroll to increase/decrease font size
Posted by gprentice on Mon, 10 Aug 2009 19:22:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In slickedit, Ctrl+scroll scrolls one page at a time but it's user configurable for what it does so it can do the font thing too if you want.

Graeme

Subject: Re: Ctrl + Scroll to increase/decrease font size
Posted by mr_ped on Tue, 11 Aug 2009 06:18:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

While I didn't see how I would miss that in the IDE, now after couple of seconds of thinking...
maybe it would give better overview over large source, and as it is so easily available (Ctrl+scroll), may be worth trying it out.

So I vote "yes", may be interesting.

Subject: Re: Ctrl + Scroll to increase/decrease font size
Posted by mirek on Tue, 11 Aug 2009 07:45:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Implemented.

Mirek