Maybe We need a section on the forum about job and freelance???

And place, where We can request or propose some job???

And financial crisis is go away

Hi Sergey,

I haven't seen many job requests for U++ so as long as they are not overrun us they could stay in Coffee corner.

Some sites have a separate section - Business - for suggestions / search freelance job.

The most popular one IMHO is elance.com followed by guru.com, freelancer.com   I doubt if anyone would post jobs here.

Hello all

I also think it could be a good idea to have a place in web with a list of companies or people giving professional support in U++.

It could include a short description of its services and a link to their web pages.
