Hi,

I am looking for beta testers for a software on Windows.

Anybody interested?

Can you give us some idea of what the software is for?

OK..

The program provides a unified interface for (re)installing programming tools into different IDEs and Text Editors. Use one xml file for storing all the essential tools one may use. Backup the tool settings of different programming environments. All major IDEs are supported: Ultraedit, Pspad, Eclipse, EditPlus, TextPad, Visual Studio 2008/2010, Code::Blocks, Sql Server Management Studio and Ultimate++ IDE. Do all of this safely, as the changes can be undone, the states of the configuration files can be restored.

I have been making it using Ultimate++ IDE...

I need testers who are willing to give some feedback at least once.
