Subject: Is my RSS feed broken?
Posted by jerson on Thu, 07 Oct 2010 13:28:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Greetings all

I seem to have a broken RSS feed link. This happened after I upgraded my firefox browser to 3.6.10

I tried a new RSS feed link and it does not work either.
 http://www.ultimatepp.org/forum/rdf.php?mode=m&l=1&b asic=1

Is this correct or something changed??

Best regards from India

Subject: Re: Is my RSS feed broken?
Posted by dolik.rce on Thu, 07 Oct 2010 15:42:43 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Jerson,
I use following links:
Quote:U++ forum
 http://www.ultimatepp.org/forum/rdf.php?mode=m&l=1&b asic=1

U++ svn changes
http://feed43.com/upp-svn-changes.xml (faster, but not really reliable) http://www.ultimatepp.org/svnchanges.xml

SourceForge.net - Recent activity for project: upp
 https://sourceforge.net/export/rss2_keepsake.php?group_id=93 970

SourceForge.net - Project Reviews for U++
https://sourceforge.net/projects/upp/reviews_feed.rss
They all work all right in google Reader. The first looks the same as the one you posted (apart from the space in it, but I believe that is a typo). The problem is that it returns the page in ISO-8859-15 encoding, so my browser (chromium) reports erorr about unsupported encoding. Otherwise it works good. Maybe there is some parameter in the forum administration to change the encoding, but I guess only Mirek have access to that.

Also you can have a look at the rss related help page which explains how to fine-tune the feed.

Best regards,
Honza

Subject: Re: Is my RSS feed broken?
Posted by jerson on Thu, 07 Oct 2010 16:07:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Honza Thank you

I got it working again by using the example link from the help pages

Example:
The following link will fetch 10 most recent messages from this forum:
rdf.php?mode=m&l=1&n=10&basic=1

Regards