I've downloaded the upp-src-604-dev2.zip and have sucessfully recompiled theide sources.

However the compiled theide reported that it is version 603.r12 NOT version 604 dev2.

Have the 604 dev2 beta release been packaged with the right sources?

Thanks.

Everything is ok! r12 is the internal version. We change the internal version when upp is officialy released..

Ehm actually I thought that in release system you are putting there "604 dev2"? Is not it bug of release system? (It should replace "internal r" number).

Now I'm lost. From Sourceforge SVN says revision 15 while version file "603.r12"? What is the logic? -3?

And I can't compile because of:

D:\Devel_upp\uppsrc\ide\ide.cpp(694) : error C2065: 'verbosebuild' : undeclared identifier
D:\Devel_upp\uppsrc\ide\ide.cpp(694) : error C2593: 'operator %' is ambiguous

D:\Devel_upp\uppsrc\Core\Stream.h(219): could be 'Stream &Stream::operator %(WString &)'

D:\Devel_upp\uppsrc\Core\Stream.h(216): or   'Stream

but in ide.h I have:

public:
 Callback WhenSelect;
 Callback1<Bar&> WhenBar;
 bool console;
 bool verbosebuild;
...

SVN revision is not connected with ide version! It is just commit number..

Mirek

The version is changed only when ide is compiled. I think I will apply this change for src file (to forget questions about incorrect versions)

Never mind. I compiled successfully after full copy and Rebuild all.
