Hello All,

I propose to update libtiff to 3.9.5 release from:
http://www.remotesensing.org/libtiff/
NOT:
www.libtiff.org

The latest version have many bug corrections and included new futures.

Hello Ion

Yes, it seems you are right.

See this in Wikipedia:
Quote:Website controversy
The primary libtiff website is considered hijacked. While it now contains a mirror of the real site for current development, the libtiff.org site has not been updated since version 3.6.1. Because of this, much of the information contained therein is incorrect, including the current version number, authors, mailing list address, and the CVS information.

It is worthwhile to update libtiff with real page.

This is the motivation why I specified the correct link!

OK,

I have done the upgrade to release 3.9.5.

see the attached file!

ADD:
Forgot to say that I added a possibility to access core lib methods. In my case I need to access TIFFReadScanline, e.t.c.

Tested under linux UBUNTU 10.04

ADD: tested on windows xp SP3. Attachment updated!

File Attachments
1) tif_3_9_5.zip, downloaded 600 times
