Subject: Issue with synchronized translation file (GNU/Linux - Kubuntu 12.10)
Posted by Klugier on Sun, 21 Oct 2012 12:38:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,
I have a problem with synchronizing translation file. When I press CTRL+F2 or button I get the message: "Invalid memmory access!". I don't know what to do to fix this issue.

This is my theide.log file:
* /usr/bin/theide 21.10.2012 14:28:38, user: klugier

* PANIC: Invalid memory access!

It is my system locale file (etc/default/locale):
LANG="pl_PL.UTF-8"

UPDATE:
Today I have tested it on linux mint 13 and It works correctly, but on ubuntu (12.04 and 12.10) synchronizing translation dosen't work.

Sincerely,
Klugier

****
Added 2012.12.29:
Newer version of the theIDE do not have this error.