Hi,

I have an Image object, let's call it img. I can save it correctly as jpg with JPGEncoder. However, when I use WriteClipboardImage(img), and then dump the contents of the clipboard to an image program, the resulting image is flipped vertically. Do I have to preprocess it somehow? Or is it a bug?

Hello Keltor

At least in W7 it seems to work properly. What are your OS and system details?

i think there is o need to preprocess it. you must have initiate soomething related to image flipping, so when you put the jpeg image into the image program, it automatically flip. use another image application to see whether it is happening again.
