Hi slashupp,

The repo updates run every night, but there is some glitch that prevents uploading it correctly. I'll try to fix it soon. Sorry for inconvenience.

Best regards,
Honza

You have done a great job on this Honza.

I have not seen a problem updating U++ in Ubuntu.

Sorry, I just failed to figure out why it doesn't work :(:blush:

But you can use packages build in OBS, they're now finally built every day. The repositories can be set up by adding something like this to your /etc/apt/sources.list:# U++ nightly builds deb http://download.opensuse.org/repositories/home:/dolik_rce:/nightly/Debian_6.0 ./

U++ release builds deb http://download.opensuse.org/repositories/home:/dolik_rce/Debian_6.0 ./
Similarly for Debian Wheezy, just use 'Debian_7.0'.

Best regards,
Honza
