Subject: "comments section" in package dialogue?
Posted by fudadmin on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 10:44:15 GMT

I'd like to have "comments section" in package dialogue.
Opinions?

Subject: Re: "comments section" in package dialogue?
Posted by mirek on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 12:04:16 GMT

fudadmin wrote on Mon, 05 December 2005 05:44I'd like to have "comments section" in package dialogue.
Opinions?

Well, I think you are suggesting adding a "description" to the package that would be displayed when selecting package, am I right?

Subject: Re: "comments section" in package dialogue?
Posted by fudadmin on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 13:17:39 GMT

luzr wrote on Mon, 05 December 2005 07:04fudadmin wrote on Mon, 05 December 2005 05:44I'd like to have "comments section" in package dialogue.
Opinions?

Well, I think you are suggesting adding a "description" to the package that would be displayed when selecting package, am I right?

Yes. Kind of a dream would be to have, e.g, displayed special comments from sources like:

 /*PACKDESC: ...blabla... */

that means you don't need to enter them separately...

Subject: Re: "comments section" in package dialogue?
Posted by fudadmin on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 13:54:59 GMT

Or to have a separate file (README or PACKDESC or ABOUT) displayed in package dialogue and which also could be invoked from "about" menu?

Subject: Re: "comments section" in package dialogue?
Posted by mirek on Mon, 05 Dec 2005 14:03:05 GMT

Actually, the real plan is to use Topic++ src/info topic for this (some time in the future