Hi,

When setting a Calendar object date to any day in the current month, the current day is always selected as well as the day set.

How do I stop the current day from being selected?

Thanks.

It is not selected, it is just highlighted (based on perhaps flawed logic that user might want to have current date highlighted :)

Should I add an option to remove this?

Hi Mirek,

An option to not highlight the current day would be a godsend. Users get confused when 2 dates appear to be highlighted (even if the highlights are a slightly different colour).

Sorry for the delay in replying, I've got mailserver trouble and didnt get a notification.

Could you reply to this when you add this option.

Many thanks.
