Hello elch, and welcome to U++ Forums. :)

If you are using TheIDE, you can access all the available documentation using Help & Topic icons (rightmost red icon on the toolbar, with the question sign on it). Here is the web page version:

http://www.ultimatepp.org/www\$suppweb\$documentation\$en-us.htm I

Since you are new to U++, I suggest you examining the provided documentation and reference examples before using U++. Most of them have the answers to your questions.

Anyhow, if you need a file selector dialog, for example, What you need is a FileSel Ctrl

(http://www.ultimatepp.org/src\$CtrlLib\$FileSel\$en-us.html) and/or FileSel utilities (

http://www.ultimatepp.org/src\$CtrlLib\$FileSelUtil\$en-us.html).

For example, below code snippet simply opens a file dialog for opening AND loading a jpeg file (for files with .jpg extension):

String jpeg_image = SelectLoadFile("*.jpg");

if(jpeg_image.IsVoid())

    Exclamation("Couldn't open file");

// Do something with the loaded jpeg image.

By the way, a "ctrl" is basically a widget (e.g. button, scrollbar, checkbox, window) in U++ terminology.

Here is a list of them. Follow the links to access the api docs:

http://www.ultimatepp.org/src\$CtrlLib\$index\$en-us.html

Regards,
Oblivion.
