If I have a column with buttons in an ArrayCtrl, the Size of the buttons is limited by the FontSize of StdFont even if I set a much higher LineCY. How do I solve that? My clients work with touchscreens. Teeny weeny buttons are no good and I already set the Font pretty big.

I am unsure about the problem. What is column with buttons?

ok, I made an example (see attachment)

The height of the red and green buttons in the example (which should be round) depends on the fontsize (which is not changeable in ArrayCtrl without affecting other controls)

If the LineCY is big enough I think I should be able to make taller controls than the Font dictates...

You have not defined the position/size of widget, means it was left in 'default' (also, you can improve your style around `One::Create` :)

void MakePlus(One<Ctrl>& ctrl)
```

```
Button& b = ctrl.Create<Button>();
b.WantFocus(false);
b.SetStyle(*no_style);
b.SetImage(Img::plus());
b.SizePos();
```

Now reading docs, they might have been a bit misleading, so I have tried to improve there...
