

---

Subject: Run a slow process in another thread to not block GUI

Posted by Infausto on Sun, 15 May 2016 07:19:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hello everyone:

Back in the day when i use Java, a very exciting helper class was introduced: A SwingWorker. This class serves to do a slow process without blocking the GUI, because basically she launch another thread for that.

I wondering: What is the right aproach to do this in U++?

Many thanks in advance.

---

---

Subject: Re: Run a slow process in another thread to not block GUI

Posted by Lance on Sun, 15 May 2016 12:28:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You can also use multi-thread in U++. Refer to multi-thread examples in the references/GuiMT

---