My main computer went down so

I put the hdd in an enclosure to access the data and programs.

I am on my wife's computer and wanted to install the latest upp 10004 with mingw. It searched for more than an hour before I canceled the search.

If a user wants to use only the mingw compiler why all the searching

150 Gig C: and all the external drives could be another 300 Gig

You know about where the mingw compiler is in the downloaded and unzipped folder, Why not have the to search just there??
