Description
Debuggin in console mode in KDE dosen't work. It shows following error:
<pre>&amp;"warning: GDB: Failed to set controlling terminal: Operation not permitted\n"</pre>

This is normal (and not our bug and not fixable).

Debugging should proceed normally, despite the warning. Does it?

The real problem is that terminal window doesn't close after debug. I enclosed screen-shot from "dead" terminal window.

"Ostrzeżenie: Program 'tail -f /dev/null' nieoczekiwanie zakończy działanie" - means "Warning: Application 'tail -f /dev/null' has terminated unexpectedly.
